Boisterous tear up the stage in a revamped production of the John Godber award- winning classic about a team of Bouncers, now known as Door Supervisors.

Technically gifted with their compulsory security training badges stuck firmly on their arms, wired up with digital headsets linked back to 'control', our 21st century Door Supervisors face the nightly tension of what they've been trained to do – customer service - and what their common sense is telling them to do – sort it out quickly.

With a cast who can move to the pulsating, up to the minute soundtrack and sing pitch perfect vocals to contemporary tunes, Bouncers thrusts us full on into a night out with all the fun and laughter, tears and tension of people trying to enjoy themselves as they go "out out" into the city hoping for fun, love or simply to lose themselves on their once a week, full on free for all.

Ralph, Les, Judd and Lucky Eric see it all and hear it all. Tonight they are going to tell you all.

Liverpool's Royal Court and Boisterous Theatre Co. present John Godber's Bouncers in a new version by Maurice Bessman • Directed by Miriam Mussa • Starring Zain Salim, Joe Speare and Trevor Dwyer-Lynch

DOWNSTAIRS

At Liverpool's Royal Court

With 150 seats in a cabaret style, original art deco features and its own brand new bar area, Downstairs is the perfect place for comedy, music and small scale theatre. You'll find the same high quality shows and great service that you have come to expect from the Court, only smaller.
